

Online Tool Helps Governments Prepare for Cyber Exposures

Cities, counties, schools and special districts can be attractive targets for cybercriminals because governments keep a lot of sensitive information about employees and citizens.

That's why Trident Public Risk Solutions is pleased to announce it is offering the public entities it ensures access to an online data breach portal that provides a range of risk management tools.

Helping Governments Prepare and Recover

The eRiskHub® portal – part of Trident's Cyber Liability 360® and Data Compromise 360® coverage – is designed to help local governments better understand the risks they face and create a response plan to minimize the costs and effects of a data breach.

Key Features of the eRiskHub® Portal

- A step-by-step guide on what to do following a data breach
- Online training modules
- Risk management tools
- A directory to quickly find external resources including industry links
- The latest news on cyber risk and security and links to compliance blogs
- A learning center including best practices and white papers written by leading authorities
